

Introduction: Bringing Mathematics to Life

- In this project, you will see students communicating about and performing math activities.
- These types of activities help to connect mathematics to other subjects and real life.
- Teaching math in this way makes it more meaningful to the students.