

Using Technology to Enhance Learning: Pulse Rate

- Here, students conducted an experiment on the change in pulse rate based on the level of activity.
- After doing different levels of activity the students took their pulse rates and entered the information into a spreadsheet.
- Then the students created graphs and wrote about what they found.
- They learned about how the level of activity as well as a person's body size affects pulse rate.