

TIM Instructional Planning Model

The TIM Instructional Planning Model incorporates available technology, curriculum demands, and student needs. These three areas should be considered flexibly and iteratively by teachers planning classroom lessons.

The Technology Integration Matrix and the Instructional Planning Model were developed by the Florida Center for Instructional Technology at the University of South Florida, College of Education. For more information, example videos, and related professional development resources, visit <http://mytechmatrix.org>. This page may be reproduced by districts and schools for professional development and pre-service instruction. © 2005-2019 University of South Florida